Colonel William Johnston Dies at Lexington After Long Illness.

AN HONORED CAREER

He Was the Son of Albert Sydney Johnston and One of the Best Known Educators of the Southern States.

Lexington, Va., July 17. — Colonel William Preston Johnston, president of the Tulane University, New Orleans, died at the home of his son-in-law, Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, Sunday.

Colonel Johnston went to Virginia Hot Springs the latter part of June, and about a week ago came here very ill, hopeful that this climate would restore his health. His condition became serious Saturday.

He was cheerful up to the hour of his death and his mind was perfectly clear. At his bedside were his wife and daughters, Mrs. Tucker of Lexington and Mrs. Richard Sharpe of Wilkesbarre.

Colonel Johnston expired on the same bed in which he was born in Louisville, Ky., and in the same house in which his first wife suddenly died, seated in the parlor while visiting here 14 years ago the family of Judge Lea of New Orleans, who then resided here.

Colonel William Preston Johnsson, the eldest son of Albert Sidney and Henrietta (Preston) Johnston, was born in Louisville, Jan. 5, 1831. Both of his parents were of Scotch-Irish descent. At the age of 4 years Colonel Johnston lost his mother, and his father having shortly afterwards cast his fortunes with the young republic of Texas, he was raised by his maternal relatives in Louisville. His early education was secured in the schools of this city. In 1850 he entered the junior class of Yale college, and graduated with distinction in 1852, carrying off some of the first prizes in English composition.

After graduation he entered the law school of the University of Louisville and received his diploma in 1853. He practiced law in Louisville until the outbreak of the war when he aided in recruiting several companies for the Confederate army, and was appointed major of the First Kentucky regiment. The regiment participated in the early operations of the army of northern Virginia, but his health failing, he accepted in May, 1862, the invitation of President Davis, to become a member of his official family aid-de-camp with the rank of colonel, in which capacity he served during the remainder of the war having been captured in company with Mr. Davis after General Lee's surrender, and was imprisoned for some time in Fort Delaware.

After a year's residence in exile in Canada, he returned to Louisville and resumed the practice of law. In 1867, while thus engaged, he was invited by General R. E. Lee, who had become president of Washington and Lee university, Lexington, Va., to the chair of history and English literature and removed to that place. For 10 years he discharged with ability the duties of this position.

In 1880 Colonel Johnston accepted the presidency of the Louisiana university at Baton Rouge, and in the three years during which he held this position he thoroughly reorganized the institution and left it in a prosperous condition. In 1883, when Paul Tulane of Princeton, N. J., a former resident of New Orleans, made to Louisiana his generous offer to endow a university, Colonel Johnston was invited to organize and take charge of the institution. To this great work he devoted the remainder of his life with a success which has a few parallels in the history of most institutions.

Created a Sensation.

Boston, July 17.—Miss Lillian Clayton Jewett, a young white woman, addressed a meeting of colored people in St. Paul's Baptist church Sunday evening on "Lynching in the South," and offered to go to Charleston, S. C., and bring to Boston the family of the murdered Postmaster, H. M. Baker, who was lynched some time ago, for the purpose of creating sentiment in the north in favor of the Southern negro. The church was packed to the doors and all the principal colored organizations of the city were present.

There was the greatest enthusiasm and in the speeches that followed the young woman was referred to as the new "Harriet Beecher Stowe," as one who had been sent in answer to the prayers of the colored race, and eulogized as the first white woman who had come out publicly as the defender of the colored people of the south who are being made the victims of "Judge Lynch."

After the meeting almost half of those in the church went to the front to meet her and thank her, and it is a long time since there has been such a demonstration among the colored people of Boston.

Gather to Lynch a Negro.

Chicago, July 17.—[illegible] special to The Record from Wichi[illegible]as., last night said: Amob of [illegible] and cowboys have gathered a[illegible]e jail at El Reno, O. T., tonight with the avowed intention of lynching a negro prisoner named Brown, who seriously wounded Deputy Marshal Hitchcock at Kingfisher yesterday. The officials are unable to secure deputies and have reported the matter to Governor Barnes who may call out the militia. Deputy Marshal Hitchcock attempted to arrest Brown for horsestealing. The negro resisted and shot Hitchcock twice, one ball entering near the heart and another in the thigh.

COLUMBIA'S TOPMAST.

New One of Washington Pine Put on the Racer Newport Contest.

Bristol, R. I., July 17.—Captain Rhodes of the Columbia, received orders Saturday to sail for Newport as soon as possible, and will not delay his departure beyond Tuesday. The new topmast of Washington pine, which was sent up last Thursday, is slightly taller than the old spar and the better fitting sails are expected to make their influence felt in the coming races off Newport.

The Columbia's new 107 foot steel mast cannot be completed before Tuesday, and may not be ready in time for the first Newport contest. It is taller, thicker and stronger than the Defender's steel cylinder, which has withstood the most severe strains and weighs 1600 pounds less than the big pine spar it will supplant. When this mast is stepped the Columbia is not expected to heel so much in a stiff breeze, as the present weight above the deck line will be materially decreased.

Indianapolis Electric Line Sold.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 17. — The Broad Ripple Rapid Transit company, a suburban electric line, was sold at auction by the receiver here for $200,000. The only one who wanted the road was the Indianapolis Street Railway company, which controls all the lines in the city. The owners of this company had organized a straw company to buy in the Broad Ripple line. There was some misunderstanding by which Ferdinand Winter, attorney for the Indianapolis company, bid for the road, against a young man named Brown, whom nobody knew. After they had run the price up to $200,000, Mr. Winter discovered that Brown was a New York attorney, who had been employed and furnished money by officers of the straw company, which his own company had organized, and there was no further competition.

Lost Louisiana Mine Found.

Hot Springs, Ark., July 17.—A considerable stir was created in this city by the announcement that the "Lost Louisiana" mine had been discovered eight miles from here, and gold ore found in it of a very high grade. The discovery was made by Kit Carson, an old miner, who located the mine by means of maps and charts furnished him by the Spanish consul in the City of Mexico. The mine shows signs of having been extensively worked. The ore taken from it assays from $80 to $136 per ton. The Lost Louisiana is a traditional mine, relinquished by the Spaniards when driven from this country by the Indians early in the present century. The mine has been searched for almost constantly since then by various parties in this and adjoining counties.

Killed His Neighbor.

Middlesboro, Ky., July 17.—At Lenwills Springs Henry Payne killed William Hignite with a stone. They were neighboring farmers, and have been on good terms, but a few days ago some of Payne's cows got into Hignite's corn and Hignite ran them out with a dog. This enraged Payne and he went to Hignite's house armed with a Winchester. They talked over the matter for some time, when Hignite made a remark that displeased Payne. At this Payne secured a stone and hurled it at Hignite, his Winchester still in his hand. The stone struck Hignite in the temple, killing him instantly. Payne has not yet been arrested, but the officers are after him.

Petroleum at Marble Falls, Texas.

Marble Falls, July 17.—The first well ever drilled in Marble Falls of any considerable depth is being sunk by Turner & Evans. A depth of 50-feet was reached and oil signs were easily perceptible. At a depth of 60-feet the output is very black, and closely resembles coal dust. Oil comes to the surface in a few seconds after each bucketfull is emptied. No expert is at hand to determine the exact character of the deposit. The original intention was to bore 800-feet for artesian water.

Night Watchman Murdered.

Pensocola, Fla., July 17.—M. P. Athey, night watchman at the Peridido wharf, was murdered while on duty. It is supposed the murderers crept up behind him and struck him on the head with an iron bar. His skull was crushed in and death must have been almost instantaneous. Athey had been close on the trail of a gang who had been robbing the cars and stealing brasses from the locomotives. It is thought one of these murdered him to get him out of the way.

Negro Convict Murders Another.

Leavenworth, Kas., July 17.—Walter Mitchell, a negro convict at the Kansas penitentiary, killed B. Reynolds, another negro convict, in a brutal manner. Mitchell was bathing with a squad, when he jumped from his bathtub, ran to the stone house and seized an iron bar, struck Reynolds three times, crushing his skull in two places. Mitchell had a grudge against Reynolds. The convicts working with Reynolds tried to get hold of Mitchell to kill him. Mitchell has a bad record.

Married as Soon as Out of Prison.

Santa Fe, July 17.—Octaviano Torres completed a five-years' stay in the penitentiary on the charge of bigamy, and was released Saturday. That afternoon he was married by Judge McFie to Maria Villegos. He was wedded to the same woman once before, when a wife in Mexico was still living, which caused his conviction. He claims to have been under the belief that he had a divorce. The muchly-married man was a Presbyterian mission preacher from El Paso.

Watching for Filibusters.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 17.—United States district attorney here has been warned from Washington to beware of filibustering expeditions from the Florida coast against Honduras, Nicaragua and other Central American countries.

Convicts on County Roads.

The Marlin Ball says: "Our county Road Superintendent Poole with his convicts was in Marlin Monday. They repaired bridges between Marlin and Reagan this week. There are now twenty-seven convicts in the camp and Mr. Poole has divided them into two squads one working across the river. Most of the work done at present will be on the bridges of the county."

It is known far and wide what splendid roads Falls county has as a result of the system of road improvement which has been going on there for several years, and there is a growing sentiment in Brazos county in favor of using the county convicts on the roads. This matter will be a feature of the discussion at the good roads convention here next Thursday. The Eagle is of the number believing in the expediency and advisability of the plan.

New Dormitory and Other Work at College.

Work on the new dormitory at the A. and M. College will be begun this week by D. Mahoney of Austin, under the plans and specifications of Prof. F. E. Giesecke, the architect. Mr. Mahoney has returned from Austin and will begin work on the foundation of the building at once. He will employ all the local labor possible including workmen, and also teams for hauling, and will divide the work out as far as possible among those who apply to him instead of subcontracting. This is proper and commendable on the part of Mr. Mahoney, and will no doubt be duly appreciated by those in need of work. The new dormitory will be four stories high (seventy-two apex of roof) and 145 x 51¾ feet. It will be built on the plan of the barracks at West Point, having three sections of rooms seperate from each other, with fifty-five rooms in all. The new dormitory will be located between Ross hall, which it will resemble in appearance, and the assembly hall, giving a fine view of the main building between the new building and Ross hall, and a more finished and evenly balanced appearance to the entire campus and collection of hondsome buildings.

In addition to this three five room cottages and one twelve room "Bachelors' Hall" are being erected under the direction of Prof. Giesecke, and general repairs are being made on the buildings where necessary.

FICKEY HUMMINGS.

Rain in this section did not do as much damage here as it did in other sections, but was the heaviest rain that ever fell in this community. Some crops are entirely washed away, stock drowned and chimneys washed down.

...SS, TEXAS.

Well the floods have about all passed off in this part, leaving our fields gullied and packed. Farmers are plowing their cotton again to break the crust. Crops are damaged considerbly by the heavy rain and wind.

Sickness is somewhat giving way here after a considerable seige.

Well we are having to live on cold grub now as the bridges are all gone and it is almost impossible to get to town; but we will fare all right as long as melons and roasting ears last.

There was quite a crowd gathered at the home of Mr. A. P. Isbell last Sunday evening to engage in singing. Boys and girls are no scarcity in this part when it comes to such gatherings.

The p otracted meeting at Zion M. E. Church is under good headway. Brother Bullock is hitched-up and pulling with all his might, and it should be remembered that he can pull a considerable load. Howerer there are others at work in dead earnest for the Master. The meeting at Concord church was postponed until the fifth Sunday in July and the week following.

Go tell it abroad that "Calvert is "suspected of having intentions," and furthermore we have good reasons to believe, that we will have a cotton mill right here in the metropolis of grand old Robertson county before this year is dropped into the waste-basket of time.—Calvert Courier.

JAPAN MOVES FORWARD.

Makes Treaties With Countries That Places Her in the Foremost Rank.

Washington, July 17.—A new treaty between the United States and Spain went into effect today, at which time also new treaties between Japan and nearly all of the countries of Europe and some of the South American republics also go into effect.

It is an event of far reaching importance in the relations between Japan and the United States, as it does away with the treaty methods which have been in vogue for nearly 50 years and substitutes an entirely new method of procedure.

The same is true in the relations of Japan with other countries. Taken as a whole the many new treaties places Japan on an entirely new footing with the world at large, and she is recognized for the first time as an equal in every respect. The treaty with this country was made June 20, 1894, in Washington between Secretary Gresham and Minister Kureno, who then represented Japan here.

The changes it made were so farreaching that it was determined the treaty should not go into operation until July 17, 1899.

The countries with which Japan has made new treaties are the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France, Russia, Austria, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, Switzerland and Peru. All of these go into effect today except those with France and Austria, which are deferred until Aug. 4. With most of these countries Japan had treaty relations before, but they were crude and unsatisfactory.

WOMAN'S TERRIBLE DEED.

She Kills Her Mother, Shoots Her Husband and Then Suicides.

Libertyville, Ills., July 17.—Following a family quarrel here, Mrs. George Treider shot and killed her mother, Mrs. Christian Foss, wounded her husband, and killed herself. The shooting occurred at the home of the Treiders, a mile and a half northwest of Long Grove, a village near this place. Treider was shot three times, but it is thought he will recover.

The quarrel was precipitated Sunday afternoon by long standing family troubles. Hot words were exchanged during the morning between Mrs. Foss and her daughter, and Treider also became involved in the discussion. The trouble was apparently over when, after dinner, it broke out afresh. Mrs. Treider stepped into the bedroom and, appearing immediately with a revolver, opened fire on her mother. The first shot was fatal, and the husband, springing forward to disarm his wife, received three wounds that sent him from the house in retreat. After leaving the house he heard two more shots, the ones that killed his wife.

Mrs. Treider leaves two children.

INDIANS DANCING.

All Efforts to Stop Them Have so Far Proved Fruitless.

Guthrie, O. T., July 17.—The Indians of the territory are largely engaged in dancing in spite of the efforts of the government to prevent the practice.

At Gray Horse the Big Hill band of Osages have been holding a smoke dance for a week in honor of their guests, the Paw Huska band, and during that time have presented with nearly $5000 worth of presents, including many ponies and saddles, a 1000 yards of red calico and 50 nickel watches.

On the Otoe and Missouri reservations the members of these two tribes are holding a six days' ghost dance, participated in by 2000 Indians, including many Ottawas and Pawnees, who have come long distances to join in the dance.

The green corn dance of the Cheyennes and Arapahoes is in progress 20 miles west of Weatherford, fully 3000 Indians participating, and the weird ceremonies led by the medicine men are kept up day and night.

STORM AT KNOXVILLE.

Trees Blown Down, Houses Damaged and Crops Badly Hurt.

Knoxville, July 17.—A disastrous storm raged in this city Sunday afternoon. The wind, with a velocity of 70 miles an hour, destroyed huge oaks, swept business buildings of their signs and architectural ornaments, and did other serious damage, removing portions of roofs, etc.

The wind was accompanied by a sweeping rain and electrical display. Telephone and electric light wires were ablaze and falling on the business streets and at times it was feared fire might be communicated to adjacent buildings. No persons are reported killed or injured, though several narrowly escaped being struck by falling signs, trees, awnings, smokestacks and the like.

The storm was the hardest known in the vicinity for years. Reports have not yet been received from the outlying districts, but it is believed here east Tennessee crops have been heavily damaged.

Kipling Thankful Now.

Just now, says the Philadelphia Times, when everything that Kipling has done takes on a particular interest, it may be amusing to many who have not heard it to know that the great author, upon whose brilliant utterances everybody is willing to hang now, was once one of the unappreciated geniuses that occasionally float into Philadelphia. It happened when he was on his way back to England from India. He returned as is already known, by way of California and through the United States. He stopped for various periods in a number of the American cities. One of them was Philadelphia. Here he drifted about for some weeks, taking in Philadelphia life and conditions, and doing occasional work for some of the newspapers. Thinking he would like to settle in the Quaker City for a while, at least, he made an effort to be put permanently on the staff of one of the great daily papers. He was not known, however, and it was argued that a young man fresh from India, who had no reputation to back him, could be of very little service to the paper, and he was turned down. Since then he has grown famous and—well, doubtless if he were to come to Philadelphia now in search of a job things would be different.

THE DREYFUS AFFAIR.

Hush Up Policy in Case He Is Acquitted Is a Poor One.

New York, July 17.—It is now stated, says the Paris correspondent of The Tribune, that the present cabinet has decided in the event of the acquittal of Dreyfus at Rennes—which is regarded as almost a certainty—to hush up the whole scandal. This is considered in political circles to be the vital question with which France will be confronted as soon as the courtmartial at Rennes has pronounced its judgment. In spite of the weight of authority of M. Ribot, and of the influential Republican papers, like The Temps and The Debats, people are beginning to ask whether such a policy of "hushing up" and of shielding those who are responsible for the terrible conspiracy against an innocent man would not destroy confidence in the republic.

A large and apparently increasing body of Republicans, including of course, all the Radicals and Socialists, who, from the very outset of the Dreyfus affair have been constantly on the side of truth and justice, have thereby gained enormously in political power, show signs of insisting on the most drastic investigation into all the circumstances of the Dreyfus conspiracy.

From the American point of view the French republic has everything to gain and nothing to lose by probing the wound to the quick and punishing the guilty. But the prudent and experienced Frenchmen favor the policy of the "sponge." "Wipe off all the old scores," they say, "and begin the exhibition with a clean slate. Punishment in France usually means retaliation and retaliation leads to civil war."

Such are the words of a French statesman who has been prime minister and who has weathered many a parliamentary storm Whether it furnishes a key to the policy that the present cabinet will adopt after the judgment shall have been rendered by the Rennes courtmartial remains to be seen.

Was Shot in the Back.

Leadville, Colo., July 17. — Donald Cameron, for 18 years a resident of Leadville, and who, with his family, has always borne a good reputation here, was arrested on the charge of holdup. He could not be removed to jail as he is shot in the back and dangerously wounded. There have been many mysterious saloon holdups here during the past few years, and the officers have never been able to catch the criminals. On Monday night an attempt was made to hold up Conley's saloon, but Conley scared the men away and fired a shot at them in the darkness. Next morning blood was found, and the officers have since been working on the case with the result that sufficient evidence was found to place Cameron and his partner, Henry O'Donnell, under arrest. Two guards are on patrol at Cameron's residence. Conley identified both men as the masked robbers who tried to hold him up. On the other hand, Cameron claims that he was shot in a fight. The arrest created quite a sensation, as Cameron is one of the pioneers of the state. He was for years engaged in mining, but for some time past has conducted a saloon in Leadville. He owns property here and also in Salt Lake.

Stranded Miners Picked Up.

San Diego. Cal., July 17.—A special to The Union from Ensenada, Lower Cal., says the Mexican man-of-war Democrata, Captain Urgell, has arrived from San Roque with 98 Americans and 25 Mexicans who were found on the beach here. Most of the miners had sold all their grub and tents and made their way to the landing misled by the false rumors that the steamer St. Dennis was due there July 5. The beach was covered with hungry men. Not one would admit, however, that he was broke, and in fact a committee organized by them raised a purse of $1000 (Mexican) and offered it to Captain Urgell to take the crowd to Ensenada. The captain refused the money. He treated the luckless goldseekers royally and brought them here.

They were in three rowboats making their way up the Arm, when they were overtaken by a great tidal wave which swamped the canoes. Johnson, Peterson and Madison were in one boat, Porter and Hutchison in another, and two unknown men in the third. The three first named were prospecting partners of C. C. Griffith, of Ogden, Utah.

STORY OF THE TRICOLOR.

When the Flag Was First Adopted in France.

The exaltation of the red, white and blue in France came in 1789, when, on the 14th of July, a civic guard of 40,000 men was raised and the colors of the arms of Paris were adopted. The white galley on a red field, with three golden fleur-de-lis on a blue stripe, were converted, at the instigation of Lafayette, into the tricolor, the white to signify the inheritance of the Bourbon flag. For over a century it has been the flag of France, as the Napoleons of the first and second empire only placed an eagle on the white strip and covered with golden bees the red and the blue. But even over what seems the simple arrangement of the three colors there has been much haggling and changing. The stripes are vertical, and in 1790 it was decreed that red should be placed next the staff; four and a half years later "the hoist must be blue, the center white, the fly red," was the order of the national assembly. In 1848 this "much ado about nothing" was perpetuated by the order of the provisional government, "blue, red, white," but two days later the flag came back to "As you were," in spite of a very general feeling for the return of the oriflamme or plain red flag. Louis Blanc and many others were in favor of it, but Lamartine most eloquently opposed its adoption in his famous speech: "Citizens, I will reject even unto death this banner of blood, and you should repudiate it still more than myself, for this red flag you offer us has only made the circuit of the Champs de Mars bathed in the blood of the people, while the tricolor has made the circuit of the world with the name, the glory, and the liberty of your country," and so carried his point. In defense, Louis Blanc recalled that Lafayette, a good republican, had, in 1789, associated the royal white with the Parisian red and blue, but that no vestige of royal power was now wanted; and, at last, a compromise was effected by placing a red rosette on the tricolor.—Philadelphia Ledger.

KICK ON CENSORSHIP.

Newspaper Correspondents at Manila Plead With Otis.

A CHANGE WANTED.

They Claim the Truth Is Not Told of the Events in the Philippines to the People of the United States.

Manila, July 11, via Hong Kong, July 17.—The constantly increasing strictness of censorship on press dispatches from Manila, which have prevented the cabling to the United States of anything that did not reflect the official views of important events, this condition has resulted in an united effort on the part of correspondents here to secure an abatement of the rigor of censorship. The initiative in this direction was taken a month ago and resulted in the framing of a statement which was presented on Sunday, July 9, to Major General Otis, commanding the military forces of the United States in the Philippine islands, with the request of permission to telegraph it to the United States. The correspondents ask that they be allowed to cable their respective papers all the facts and different phases of events as they transpired here. Correspondents had two long interviews with General Otis in the course of which they complained of the evident purpose of censorship was not to keep information from the enemy, but to keep from the public knowledge of the real condition of affairs here. It was also asserted by the correspondents of newspapers printed in Manila, which reach the enemy quickly, that they were permitted to publish statements similar to those which the correspondents were forbidden to cable. It was made clear to General Otis that the objection was to system, not to censor. General Otis finally promised a greater liberality agreeing to pass all matter that he might consider not detrimentral to the United States. General Otis appointed Captain Green, of his staff, the censor. The statement of the correspondents is as follows,

The undersigned, being all staff correspondents of American newspapers stationed in Manila, unite on the following statement:

"We believe that owing to official dispatches from Manila, made public at Washington, the people of the United States have not received correct impressions of the situation in the Philippines, but that these dispatches have presented an ultra optomistic view that is not shared by the general officers in the field.

"We believe the dispatches incorrectly represent the existing conditions among the Philippines in respect to dissension and demoralization resulting from the American campaign, and to the brigand character of their arms.

"We believe the dispatches are in the declaration that the situation is well in hand and assumption that the insurrection can be speedily ended without increased force.

"We think the tenacity of the Filipinos' purpose has been underestimated and that the statements are unfounded that volunteers are willing to engage in further service. The censorship has compelled us to participate in this misrepresentation by excising or altering uncontioverted statements of facts on the plea, as General Otis stated, that they would alarm the people at home.

The specifications are: Prohibiting of reports, suppression of full reports and operations in the event of failure; numbers of heat prostrations in the field; the systematic minimization of naval operations and the suppression of complete reports of the situation.

The protest is signed by John T. McCutcheon and Harry Armstrong of the Chicago Record, Oscar K. Davis and P. G. McDonnell of the New York Sun, Robert M. Collins, John P. Dunning and I Jones of the Associated Press, John F. Bass and William Dinwiddie of the New York Herald, Edward S. Keene, of the Scripps-Mcrae association and Kichard Little, of the Chicago Tribune.

DEEPENING CANALS.

Soon Large Vessels Can Run From Lake Ontario to Montreal.

Montreal, July 17.—The work of deepening the St. Lawrence canals, which has been going on for years, is now about completed, and it is announced that by September at the latest there will be a channel 14 feet in depth from Lake Ontario to Montreal. Heretofore some of the canals were only 9 feet deep and for this reason the lake freight steamers have had to transship at Kingston. With the deeper channel, they will be able to come through direct from Port Colberne on Lake Erie, the head of the Welland canal, to Montreal, and here transship their cargoes to ocean going steamships.

Several supplementary steps toward the building up of this transportation route are now to be taken. The work is to begin fortwith of dredging out the harbor at Port Colberne and extending this so that the large freighters plying on upper lake, will be able to enter the harbor and discharge cargoes as easily as they can now at Buffalo.

At Montreal it is said the government has decided to erect as a public work an immense grain elevator. As the reward for all this capital outlay, running high up into the millions Canada expects to deflect a large amount of grain from the Erie canal.

The Brooklyn Strike.

New York, July 17.—About two-thirds of the cars on all the lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, except the Nassau system are running. No trouble has occurred so far. The cars are all policed with from one to four patrolmen each, except on Putnam and Halsey street lines. President Rossiter, of the Rapit Transit company, says 50 of the men who went out have reported for work. At the strikers headquarters the men asserted that while some cars are running, they claim six recruits from men who remained at work.

Street Car Strike.

Cleveland, O., July 17.—The conductors and motermen of the big Consolidated Street Railway system, who were on a strike last month, went out again at 4:15 o'clock this morning. Eight hundred men are affected. They claim the company has not lived up to the agreement made when the strike was declared off.

SIR WALTER SCOTT.

Mrs. Edgcumbe the Heroine of a Pretty Little Story.

The Hon. Mrs. George Edgcumbe who has just died at Florence, was the daughter of Sir John Shelley of Maresfield Park, and nearly related to those other Sussex Shelleys of whom the poet was one, says the Westminster Gazette. She was the heroine of that touching little scene commemorated by Sir Walter himself in his "Diary" for May, 1828: The London season was at its height, and Sir Walter was enjoying his full share of what he calls its "busy idleness." He had breakfasted—early, as was his wont—with that "good fellow" Richardson, had given Chantrey another sitting for his bust, and had gone to a second breakfast in Chester square, as the guest of Lady Shelley. In the brilliant company assembled to meet him a young lady, the daughter of his hostess, asked him if she might have a lock of his hair. "Too good-natured to refuse," he allowed Miss Shelley to possess herself of the "thin white" keepsake, and gave her the kiss for which he had previously stipulated. Mrs. Edgcumbe would on occasions recall a visit she paid with her father, Sir John Shelley, in the '20s to Abbotsford. One morning when, after breakfast, Sir Walter had retired to his desk to add a chapter or two to "The Talisman," Sir John appeared, radiant, from the Tweed, whence he had landed a magnificent salmon. At once Sir Walter rose, "The Talisman" quite forgotten in what seemed the far more important task of weighing the salmon, for which the whole party (Miss Shelley being one) descended to the kitchen—Sir Walter adjusting the scales and noting the weight with a dignified solemnity the young lady never forgot. Equally characteristic and memorable were her recollections of the delightful evenings at Abbotsford, when the great poet and romancist would unbend in the simplest fashion, illustrating shrewd remark with apt, picturesques anecdote.

On the morning of the departure of the Shelleys, Sir Walter conducted his young friend into the library, and, after some invaluable hints as to reading, in which history and romance had each their proper part assigned them, he took down a translation of "Ivanhoe" into Italian, and having inscribed her name in the book, presented it to her. This she always kept, as a remembrance of the conversation that led up to the gift, and it was her pleasure and delight in after years to watch the influence of the mighty author on contemporary literature.

SUBWAYS IN EUROPE.

With this century's close has come a revival of the tendency to dig below ground. A few decades ago there were no long burrowing tunnels under London except the wine cellars on the river's edge, where for centuries they had existed, miles in length. To-day as much traffic goes on under as above the streets. It is feared big buildings may collapse as a result of the tunneling.

No one knows the extent of underground Paris. There are constantly being found subways and tunnels, the existence of which was not known, and subterranean vaults and passages are met with whenever excavation takes place. These long passages are of great use to burglars and criminals, who know their extent and profit thereby.

Rome is cut up underneath like Paris. These subterranean passages were in existence in the earliest days of the Christian era, but were closed and forgotten till the seventeenth century, when they were discovered. No one knows their extent, though they may measure easily 1,000 miles.

The notched sailor collar is of blue, trimmed with four rows of white braid. The blue cuffs have the interlacing tabs, fastening with pearl buttons. The edge of the waist is defined with a band of blue, outlined with the braid. The plain high collar is of white, showing a line of blue at the top and a small American flag ornaments the center of the plain white collarette, and a similar decoration is on the top of the left sleeve.

A $9,000 Dinner.

The bill for the Bradley Martin dinner in New York for 86 persons footed up $9,525, of which $53 was olives, caviare, celery, radishes and bread, which shows that the Bradley Martins do not overlook the little luxuries of a dinner.
